The TOGAF® Framework

Every organisation is subject to change. From strategic changes to everyday changes. From durable changes to rapid changes - Agile - in response to market driven demand. How do you ensure that your business is future proof and will stay that way?
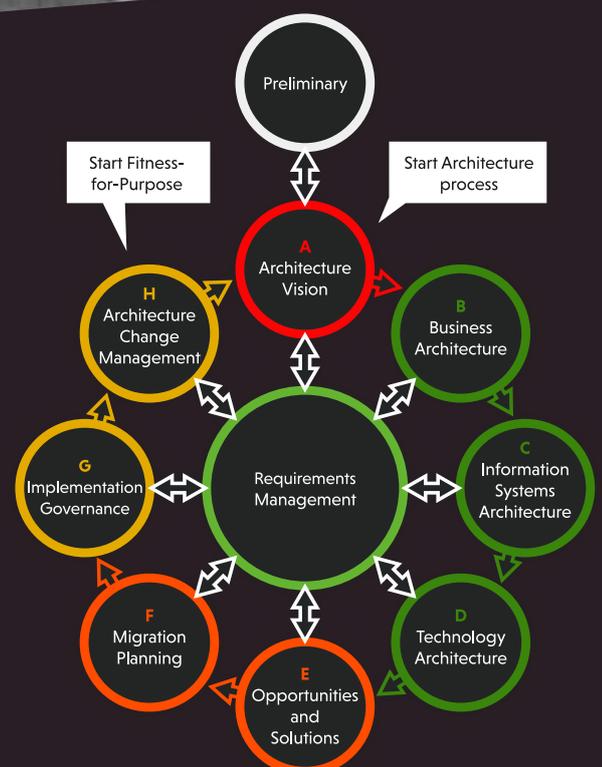

WHAT IS IT?

To support changes, Enterprise architecture must bring the business structure and IT together. The TOGAF® standard ensures a shared viewpoint on the company, which makes for an unequivocal approach.

The Open Group Architecture Framework, or TOGAF® framework for short, is an open method, independent of suppliers, for the development and management of Enterprise architectures. The process model describes a life cycle of a given architecture in phases and process steps. The TOGAF® framework supports organisational aspects such as management, governance, and possibilities concerning humanity and technology.
